Applications will be accepted by email to info@graphicstudiodublin.com only.
Please use Fingal residency in the subject line.

As part of an ongoing commitment to professional artists, Fingal County Council, in partnership with Graphic Studio Dublin, are offering two Fine-Art Print Residencies. It is planned that the two-week residencies will take place in Autumn 2024 at a date to be agreed with the artists. The residency period is two weeks but may be taken part-time over a three-week period to allow for work or other commitments.

Previous recipients include Aoife Ward & Derval Carroll in 2023 and Maree Hensey & Deborah Hewson in 2022.

Have a look at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=zLgKgF7bnI> for a video on the 2021 awards.

This 2-week residency is open to professional artists at any stage of their careers, in any discipline, but who are interested in exploring print processes. It offers the opportunity to make a fine art print with the guidance and assistance of a Master Printer and the team at Graphic Studio Dublin. The residency will provide an ideal environment for the development of a creative project in printmaking and an opportunity to network with other artists.

The artist will work over the two-week period with the Master Printer and a professional printing team, exploring printmaking and printing a small edition, using a pre-prepared drawing or image as a starting point. The work may be displayed along with members' work in Graphic Studio Gallery the following year.

The professional aims and objectives of the successful candidate will be continually assessed during the residency to ensure the artist gains the maximum benefit from their time. The collaborative nature of being part of a collective print studio and working with a professional printmaker will be of enormous assistance to the artist.

The residency will include:

- An initial meeting at the studio with Studio Director and Programme Manager to define the project, print medium and timeline.
- Advice and assistance from the Master Printer on print methodologies, to allow the artist to professionally fulfil their objectives during the residency.
- Professional studio support regarding technical processes and artistic development.
- Working in the studio from c.10am-3.30pm each day with a designated Team member, with input from the Master Printer, over ten days.
- A small edition of prints, produced with staff at the studio during the residency period.
- Documentation of the residency for the artist, Fingal County Council and Graphic Studio Dublin which can be used as promotional material for future projects.
- Exhibition of work at Graphic Studio Gallery.
- An artist's proof will enter the Fingal County Council Municipal Art Collection.
- The recipient may be asked to give a public and/or written presentation on their practice and how the residency has benefitted them.

Derval Carroll, Niamh Flanagan & Ailbhe Barrett 2023

*“Many thanks to Graphic Studio Dublin and Fingal Arts for awarding me the residency. I really loved every minute of it! It was fantastic to have access to the equipment at the Studio and more importantly, to the knowledge & the experience of all of the artists that I met there. Ailbhe, as my mentor, was brilliant in answering my million & one questions and let me try different techniques & experiments, all with patience, encouragement and enthusiasm. It was also fantastic to get to meet & chat with other artists as I have been working from a home studio since I graduated and miss the social interaction! I hope to work on my print portfolio so that I can apply for membership to GSD next year .” Derval Carroll

“After initial discussions and looking over Derval’s current body of work, we decided to focus this residency on two print techniques - carborundum collagraph and etching, neither of which the artist had worked with before.

Derval’s work has a strong focus on geometric abstraction and she wished to incorporate concepts and threads from digital artworks that she had been working on, into print. After the initial phase of experimenting, we decided to work with a square template, 30cm x 30cm. We spent time going over the etching process, including line etching and different forms of aquatint such as spitbite, Sugarlift and stop-outs. Derval made copper plates and carborundum plates of the same dimensions to make multiple iterations of each. We finalised a colour palette and produced a varied edition over four days printing. Derval and Aoife shared and cross referenced their experiences at different times in the studio, creating an atmosphere conducive to learning and to the many creative possibilities of print techniques.

*During this residency, Derval responded enthusiastically to the medium and I feel that she will be able to continue to hone skills learnt on this residency and readily incorporate print into her work.” Ailbhe Barrett

Aoife Ward, Niamh Flanagan & Michele Hetherington 2023

"I applied for the GSD Fingal residency as it seemed like a great opportunity. Michele was fantastic to work with, I informed her of a health concern with the fumes used and straight away we focused on 4 or 5 techniques that were less chemical in their processes. Because of this simplification, we had more time to evolve the print together. We looked at some of my sculptures and videos, and I toured the local area with my camera. From clips and images, we selected things in the local landscape that were "prints" (text, texture, stories and memories). She encouraged me to follow my usual methods of idea generation and she guided that into print.

I made two lovely (If I do say so myself) prints with Michele, one that wrecked my head and we concentrated so hard on, and truly built up over the weeks and a second that was fun and quick and more experimental. I want to take from this the slowness of print making and image conception, and to enjoy the collage aspect of drawing, adding bits day by day.

The whole environment of Graphic Studio was so welcoming, and I'll definitely return in the future, if not for print making, for the company and people there! I'd recommend the residency to anyone eligible, and will be taking a new look at print making within my sculptural and performative practice. I have applied since for the Fingal bursary to continue image-based experimentation in my studio, where I intend to bring simple print making methods in to my practice."

Aoife Ward

"Aoife's proposal had a variety of possible avenues to explore. We discussed a video piece created during a residency and I was interested in how she documented and narrated her journey. She has a playful curiosity about the world around her and the possibilities of objects. During a local video-walk she documented text, signage and repeated multiples. "Above Ground, Side Below" - instructional text spray painted on car-parking meters was the golden ticket to Aoife's printmaking adventures.

Starting with the collected text, we began developing work around letterpress text and, just like a sculptor, Aoife began building on the foundations. Collaging was the primary component that enabled Aoife to develop and push the work. Collecting and selecting shapes and manipulating them to enhance and challenge the layer previous. We then explored Drypoint, Screenprint and Embossed Monoprint Stencils. Each of Aoife's prints used multiple techniques- all of which she was fully involved in and printed herself.

Aoife's aim for this residency was to learn printing skills that she could intertwine with her collaborative work back in her studio. The residency at GSD was a time of personal reflection for Aoife, allowing time to focus on her individual voice and make work away from the demands of the socio-political collaborative performance-based work. I believe the experience at Graphic Studio Dublin provided Aoife with a great deal more than printmaking skills and I'm interested in how her work will grow into the future." Michele Hetherington
